

The Denis Wellstead Memorial Trophy

In memory of the late Denis Wellstead, the IEC annually presents the Denis Wellstead Memorial Trophy to “the International Egg Person of the Year”.

Criteria

The Award will be given to any person who, in the opinion of the Award Committee, has provided exemplary service to the egg industry.

The winner of the award is likely to have shown consistent commitment and leadership to the international egg industry over a period of years. This commitment is likely to be above and beyond the level required for their business or position, and the individual will have made a significant contribution to the general good of the egg industry at an international level.

Eligibility

A candidate may serve in the egg/egg products industry, in an ancillary industry or in any other industry or service industry which benefits the egg industry, such as the manufacture of pharmaceuticals or the provision of veterinary or other advice.

The winner of the award should not be a current member of the judging panel.

Nominations and Selection

Members of the IEC may nominate candidates for consideration by the Award Committee.

Nominations must be received by the IEC office to be reported to the Award Committee for their consideration. Entries will be accepted by email with completed applications returned to Lisa by email lisa@internationalegg.com.

The Award Committee may select a candidate nominated in this way or may make their own choice.

Any paid-up member of the IEC may nominate a candidate.

Award Committee

The Award Committee is made up of the IEC’s Office Holders. The decision of the Award Committee is final.

Announcement and Presentation of the Award

The winner of the award will be announced and presented with the trophy at the Annual IEC Global Leadership Conference in September.
